

ASHT STUDENT Offerings

ASHT offers a discounted, first-year introductory membership rate of $30 for new student members. This membership includes a specific page dedicated to the future leaders of hand and upper extremity therapy. The ASHT Student Center has a wealth of information and resources designed to assist students in kick-starting their studies for a career in hand and upper extremity therapy.

Information found in the Student Center:

Starting Your Own Hand Therapy Club

Students can use this manual to network with peers and professionals at their university. It has all of the details needed to start a hand therapy club to jumpstart a path into the hand and upper extremity specialty.

Student-Guided Learning Workbook

Students can use this resource as a basis for independent study. With topics including upper extremity anatomy, common conditions and general treatment interventions, this workbook serves as a scaffold for learning more knowledge necessary for a clinical rotation in hand and upper extremity therapy.

Student Self-Assessment

This 50-question assessment is a useful tool to gain insight of one's strengths and weaknesses in hand and upper extremity entry-level knowledge. This tool can be used to aid learning for both students and clinical educators. Take this assessment prior to beginning a clinical rotation to help ensure a successful learning experience. This is also a great tool to facilitate discussion of learning objectives between a student and clinical educator.

Student e-Community

Students can network and connect with one another to share clinical experiences, expectations, career development and all things involving hand and upper extremity therapy. A community forum specifically for YOU!

Student-Led Journal Club

Offered quarterly, the Student-Led Journal Club is designed to involve and educate students on appraising the current literature as it relates to the hand and upper extremity.
